Wise Talks by the Office Boy

Do you notice that it's mostly the gun-makers and the gun-fighters who are so dead sure we are going to have war with Japan? The gun-makers say that Japan is buying guns and torpedoes, while the gun-fighters say that we haven't enough of either; crew, the Japs must fight while they have a chance to win. That sounds plausible, but the trouble with these gun people is they don't understand that the powers are arming so heavily merely to preserve the peace. Isn't your Uncle Sam putting up as much money as any one to prevent a combat? Why, sure, he is. And that's why we are building a big navy, because it's cheaper to be prepared than to fight. War is getting to be such a destructive and expensive thing that no nation can afford to go to it, hence they are all arming to prevent it. If Japan goes up in the air she's going to get called down by the other powers. And it's the same way in running a business as in running a nation. It is better to be prepared than to invite trouble, and the best way to avoid trouble is to be prepared. We are counting on a big killing out of this week on account of the continuance of cold weather and our 25 per cent. discount sale of Men's Suits. Come in.

NEWS OF THE TURF.

THROUGH WOOD AT

Pullman and Studebaker Cars Arrive in Petersburg Together.

BUCKED THROUGH THE BOGS

Machines, in Bad Shape, Will Make Fresh Start This Morning.

Much splattered with mud and in need of repairs, the Pullman and Studebaker cars, of the Philadelphia-to-Savannah end run, arrived in Petersburg at 1:50 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Both machines were in bad shape, owing to the heavy condition of the roads, and will remain in Petersburg until 8 o'clock this morning, when they will begin their journey to Portsmouth.

Instead of leaving yesterday morning immediately after its arrival here from Ashland, the Pullman racing car was sent to Mr. B. A. Blenner's garage for repairs, the axle borrowed from another machine was taken off, and before daylight a new one was made in the garage. It worked like a charm. Mr. Blenner assisted with the work until 4 o'clock, when he left for home, added that everything was right. Fifteen minutes after the Pullman left for Petersburg, at 8:20 A. M., an agent from the factory at York, Pa., arrived with a brand-new axle. He caught a street car in Manchester to join his party.

The steel snapped just as the shoulder of the road was about to be reached. While it showed the effects of the terrible strain, it evidently broke as Driver Gillette swerved suddenly to the left in an effort to pull out of the mud hole into which he had plunged.

Having a start of twenty minutes over its rival, the Studebaker led the way toward Petersburg. Mr. Blenner, who escorted the Pullman seven miles from town, said that the road was in pretty bad shape, but added that the racers made fairly good time under their own power.

The crew of the Studebaker went to a lunch room on Main Street yesterday morning about 3 o'clock. The Yeagerer drank quarts of coffee and then went to the hotel. The Pullman Auto Company did not complain because he was sending stories of the race to Philadelphia newspapers, so long as everybody got a square deal. In the Philadelphia Press and Philadelphia Inquirer, the names of the Pullman Auto Company did not appear because he was sending stories of the race to Philadelphia newspapers, so long as everybody got a square deal.

"It is reported," wired the reporter-observer of the Studebaker, "that both the Pullman and Studebaker are being bucked slowly through the mud and water, and that the Pullman is being towed by a team of sixteen mules out of Frank Yeagerer, driving the Studebaker, is accompanied by four mules and the Pullman is being towed by six horses."

Just as the owners and drivers of the Pullman and Studebaker are being bucked slowly through the mud and water, and that the Pullman is being towed by a team of sixteen mules out of Frank Yeagerer, driving the Studebaker, is accompanied by four mules and the Pullman is being towed by six horses.

REACH PETERSBURG TOGETHER.

Big Cars Find the Roads From Here in Terrible Condition.

PETERSBURG, Va., March 9.—Neck and neck, the Pullman and Studebaker cars on the endurance run from Philadelphia to Savannah, Ga., whirled into town this afternoon. The Pullman, a five-hour and fifty-minute trip from Richmond over twenty-three miles of which, according to the descriptions of both cars, are sorely in need of pontoon bridges.

"In some places, after a futile attempt to wade through, we backed off and let the other car go through the bog," said one of the Studebaker people. The racers say they are down and out, and have agreed to stop over here for the night, leaving at 8 o'clock for the tomorrow morning.

The cars have averaged a mile an hour for the last sixty-seven hours.

NEWS GATHERED FROM THE SOUTHSIDE

Weather Prevents Committee from Inspecting Stockton and Semmes Streets.

ACTIVITY IN POLICE CIRCLES

Several Arrests Made Last Night. Funeral of Mrs. Curtis Yesterday Afternoon.

Manchester Bureau, Times-Dispatch.

Owing to weather conditions yesterday afternoon, the Street Committee failed to get a quorum, the meeting having been called for the purpose of inspecting Stockton and Semmes Streets.

The inspection was to have been made last night on the charge of fighting in the street.

Diillard Pearson, a white man, who lives in the lower part of the city, attempted to smash a saloon in lower Hull Street, and his task was indeed well done when the police arrested him, for he had thrown a brick through the glass door of the saloon and smashed into many pieces. He will tell the Mayor all about it this morning.

William Patterson and Lewis Johnson were arrested and are being held for the Richmond authorities.

On Sunday afternoon County Officer Jarrell had an exciting chase after a negro fugitive who put up a game fight and made good his escape.

The officer had arrested the negro on the charge of cutting another negro's hair, and was on his way to the Manchester Police Station, when he made a dash for liberty. Some one called Officer Jarrell, and when he turned his head he saw the fugitive, who had been in the clutches of the policeman and made a dash. Jarrell went after him, and he made a dash. The first shot struck Jarrell in the leg, but he only checked him for a moment. The officer emptied his pistol, but without effect. A second shot made yesterday and last night for the fugitive.

Only one case was before the court of Mayor Maurice yesterday morning, notwithstanding that the court took Monday. This was a negro charged with shooting a dog. He paid $1 and costs.

The funeral of Mrs. Chesley C. Curtis, who died in Washington Saturday night, was held yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The interment was in Maury Cemetery and the services were conducted by Rev. J. H. Harrison.

Mrs. Curtis was formerly Miss Cleaton, of this city. She is survived by her mother, who has been living with her in Washington, her husband, Mr. Curtis, and two brothers, Messrs. W. H. and T. C. Cleaton, both of Manchester. She was thirty-five years old.

Captain Cook, the popular Southern passenger conductor, who has been in Washington, D. C., for several days, is now back in his home in Oak Grove.

Mrs. J. A. Lucas, of 1200 Hull Street, who has been quite sick for several days, is much better.

Francis Marshall, the little son of E. C. Cousins, formerly of this city, died Saturday evening in Montreal, Canada, of diphtheria. He had been in place at 5 o'clock Sunday in Montreal.

State Capitol Policeman T. A. Carroll, who has been quite sick at his home in Swansboro, is reported to be better.

Miss Pattle Hobson, of Powhatan county, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Harrison, of Richmond.

A teachers' institute will be held either at Chester or Chesterfield County, during the first week of April. All the teachers of the county are invited to attend. Superintendent D. L. Pullman, of Manchester, has been invited to preside.

City Engineer Lipscomb yesterday morning, in pursuance to orders received from the Street Committee, put ten extra men to work on the streets for a period of thirty days. When the chief arrived at the city stables yesterday morning there were more than 100 men there to make application for the places.

EXPENSE IS HEAVY

Problems Before Associated Charities Very Serious This Year.

At a meeting held at the Jefferson Hotel last night the board of directors of the Associated Charities of Richmond adopted resolutions that the charities of the city should be organized to the Charity Fete Association.

Manager P. M. Fry, of the Jefferson; the managers of the hotel; Keweenaw; and many others who contributed to the fund for the fete, were also present. The fete is to be held on the 15th of May, and the proceeds will be used for the relief of the poor.

The public may better understand the enormous expense incurred this year in caring for the families in the Baltimore House and the people who are out of work by the shutting down of the factories and other public works, the board of directors of the Associated Charities for the month of January and February alone amounted to $2,350. Although the winter is almost over, there seems but little prospect that the conditions will be materially bettered.

TWO YEARS FOR FORGERY

Negro Worked Film-Plan Game on Man Supposed to Be Under Arrest.

Charged with forging the name of a man who was supposed to be under arrest and had been in the city for some time, a negro (colored) was unable yesterday to satisfy a jury in the Hustings Court that it was an error, and was sentenced to two years for a term of two years.

The forged order, for $100, was directed to the Carter Hotel, and was signed "Joe Tucker." The forged order was by way of explanation in the order that Tucker needed the money. But Tucker knew nothing of the affair.

John Coles, charged with criminal assault, was acquitted.

NEGRO BISHOPS SUE

Allege That Local Roads Refused to Let Them in Sleeping and Dining Cars.

Wesley J. Gaines, H. M. Turner, Evans J. Smith, and W. V. Lampton, all bishops of the African Methodist Episcopal Church, have filed complaints with the Interstate Commerce Commission against the Seaboard Air Line Railway Company, the Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac Railway Company, the Southern Railway Company, the Central of Georgia Railway Company, and the Pullman Company. They allege that the companies refuse to furnish first-class fares and refusal to supply them with accommodations on sleeping and dining cars are cited as grounds for the suit.

SONS OF VETERANS

Interesting Meeting Held at Lee Camp Hall.

R. E. Lee Camp, No. 1, United Sons of Confederate Veterans, held a meeting at Lee Camp Hall last night and heard a number of interesting addresses.

Mr. Howard Walthall, of Lee Camp, C. V., made a speech to the camp, creating much interest. He was followed by Commander H. H. Courtney and P. E. Rennie, of the camp.

The committee was named to draft suitable resolutions concerning the death of Commodore R. D. Morgan, and this committee will report at the next meeting.

Mr. Ralph Nesale made application for membership. Commander R. E. Courtney was invited to address the camp at its next meeting in some Confederate tople of his own choosing.
